Orphan Sunday - November 1st

More than 140 million orphaned and vulnerable children need a caring family, loving support, and the only thing that is eternal — a relationship with Christ. Orphan Sunday is set aside to recognize the plight of these children and spur on all believers to action. We may not all be able to adopt or foster, but we can all do something.

Plan to hear how First Baptist is getting involved and how you can join in God's mission for vulnerable children.

First Things

We are honored today to recognize and thank our local police officers for their dedication, courage, and commitment to serving and protecting our community. Your work reflects a spirit of sacrifice, compassion, and care for others—values that align closely with one of our First Things First purposes: Caring Through Ministry and Missions. As we support and encourage you, who serve our community, we are reminded of the importance of connecting with God and with one another, building relationships rooted in faith, service, and love. Together, we are grateful for those who help make our community safer and stronger. First Baptist Church of Dallas appreciates and thanks you for your service.
